

UNIVERSITY OF THE PHILIPPINES OPEN UNIVERSITY

Established on 23 February 1995, the University of the Philippines Open University (UPOU) is the pioneer and leading institution in open and distance elearning (ODEL) in the Philippines. UPOU is the 5th Constituent Unit (CU) of the University of the Philippines (UP) System and is known as the cyber campus of UP.

UPOU's mission is to provide Filipinos everywhere access to quality higher education through innovative methods of teaching and learning that are designed to be responsive to their needs as well as to national development priorities. UPOU upholds the values of scholarship, academic excellence, academic freedom, humanism, social responsibility, and service to the nation.

UPOU is also mandated to contribute towards upgrading the quality of the educational system of the country by developing innovative instructional strategies and technologies, and sharing these with other colleges and universities through cooperative programs. Republic Act 10650 (Open Distance Learning Law) has tasked UPOU to assist relevant national agencies, higher education institutions and technical and vocational institutions in developing their distance education programs through training, technical assistance, research and other academic programs.

UPOU is the nation's most comprehensive distance education institution, with three undergraduate programs, 13 post-baccalaureate certificate and diploma programs, 12 master's programs, two doctoral programs and 12 continuing education courses. This wide range of program offerings, coupled with UPOU's capability to harness recent and relevant digital technologies in education, have enabled UPOU to build a global community of mostly Filipino learners in more than 70 countries.

Mode of Teaching

UPOU employs the distance education (DE) mode of teaching and learning. The key features of DE as practiced at UPOU are:

- Students and teachers are physically separated from each other. They do not meet face-to-face in a physical classroom.
- Students undertake guided independent study of carefully selected as well as specially designed learning materials in various media — print, video, and multimedia.
- Interaction between teachers and students, and among students, takes place through online tutorials in a virtual classroom. Other forms of communication between teacher and student are email, text, and teleconferencing.
- Midterm and Final examinations are usually administered through a network of examination venues here and abroad or through an online exam system.

UPOU has three (3) Mega Learning Hub offices. The locations of these offices are as follows:

Diliman - UPOU-CICT Building, C.P. Garcia Avenue, Diliman, Quezon City

Cebu - Rm.134, Arts & Sciences Bldg, UPOU Cebu, UP Cebu Lahug, Cebu City

Davao - UPOU Davao, Andarizal Center, Cor Anda and Rizal St, Davao City

The Mega Learning Hubs serves as learning space or venue in order to conduct activities both physically and virtually; and for students and faculty members to collaborate and become co-creators of knowledge. It also provides venue for student activities.

STUDENT SUPPORT SERVICES

MyPortal

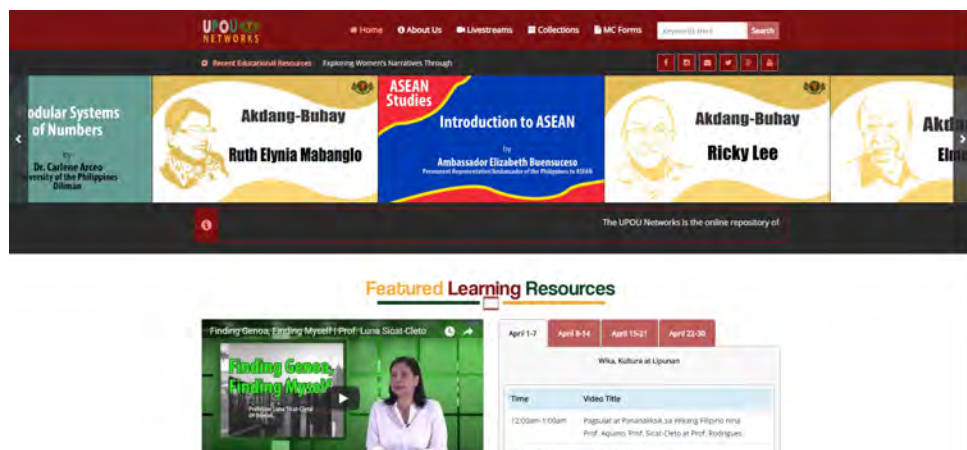

UPOU utilizes an open source learning management system (LMS) as its virtual classroom known as MyPortal. Myportal is where you can access all your courses and other relevant information related to your studies.

MyPortal include repository of resources such as guides and syllabi, and manual and references; communication hub where discussion forums, private messages and chat sessions are being done; and assessment where assignments are submitted and examinations and quizzes are administered.

The UPOU Networks

The UPOU Networks (<http://networks.upou.edu.ph/>) is the online repository of multimedia resources produced by the University of the Philippines Open University. It is one of the programs of the university that is intended to make learning more accessible to a larger community. Library Resources and Services

The UP Open University Library is the most heavily used service unit by faculty members and students. It is one of the key components of an academic and scholarly institution like the UPOU. Its great responsibility is to make information services available in all types and forms to meet the need of its constituents.

The following are its services:

1. Library Website. Since the faculty and students cannot visit the UPOU library as frequently as they want to, the UPOU library devised a system of providing these students services. A library homepage was launched to reach the faculty and students.
2. Web Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC). Just like their counterparts in the residential campuses, UPOU students and faculty can access the library's Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC) via the Integrated Library Management System software provided by the UP System.
3. Virtual Reference Service (Email). Through the Virtual Reference Service (Via Email) faculty and students may request for books or book chapters, thesis abstracts, and full text articles, from the UPOU Library via email.
4. Document Delivery. The Library sends printed books to requesting UPOU students via courier. The same books are sent back to the library through the same courier service.
5. Bibliographical Services. The UPOU library prepares subject and author bibliographies on specific topics upon request.
6. Referral Services and Intra/Inter-library Loan. In extreme cases where our students and faculty members would like to borrow materials from libraries outside the college and university, the College librarian usually obtains such materials through an intra/inter-library loan. The College librarian also writes letters for its students and faculty members so that they may be able to use the resources and facilities of libraries outside the UP System Library.
7. Reader's Assistance Services. The UPOU library provides library orientation to new students as well as walk-in researchers who request such services. The staff also answers queries concerning the client's current information needs. Upon request, the staffs are able to advise students on materials that they could use for their study and research.
